

I am a conveyancing attorney that deals with real estate brokers every day in practice. Real estate transactions are naturally stressful transitions in life and it is invaluable to work with a real estate broker that understands this dynamic and goes above and beyond with customer service to insure that the client feels as little stress as is possible in the transaction.

Andy and his team are the only brokers that I would ever refer my family and friends to because I have witnessed first-hand many examples of the superior service that he provides to clients.

With so many stereotypical car salesman type brokers in the industry, working with Andy and his team is like a breath of fresh air.

Christopher McAuliffe
Law offices of Christopher McAuliffe
November 2011