

Divorce cases are always emotional and are often contentious, particularly when a home must be sold as part of the proceedings. As a lawyer who has handled countless numbers of these cases, I need the listing realtor to get that house sold, but I especially need that realtor to walk a fine line and be professional, courteous, and respectful to everyone involved in the case. I have counted on Andy Saviolakis to get this job done and he has never let me down.

Attorney Jason D. Buffington